First Lady of Georgia Marty Kemp’s

Educational and Ag Awareness Poultry Project

First Lady of Georgia Marty Kemp invites Georgia 4-H and FFA members to collaborate to design housing for a flock of 10-12 laying hens to be installed at the Georgia Governor’s Mansion. The flock will provide:

- Increased agriculture awareness by placing a backyard flock at the Georgia Governor’s Mansion.
- An additional point of interest, educational opportunity and Georgia awareness moment as guests visit the Mansion. The flock will be part of a continued emphasis on the Georgia Grown initiative.
- An opportunity for local 4-H and FFA clubs and chapters to partner in a project.
- Increased visibility of two of the state’s youth development/educational organizations.
- A forum for youth to engage with the Governor and First Lady.

Eligibility Requirements

- Teams of 4-8 students with significant representation (at least 2) of both organizations.
